IV. Committee Updates	Well Women and Black Maternal Health Committee - Committee met April 30 and focused on Her Story 2.0, a continuation of the video series amplifying women's voices. - A follow-up meeting was held to expand the project to include postpartum and substance use disorder awareness. - The committee is also revising the Women's Life Plan, Teen Life Plan, and Man Up Plan. - Feedback is invited from community partners using these tools. - Positive feedback was received on the fatherhood panel at the recent DHMIC Summit. Social Determinants of Health Committee - Committee met March 26 and introduced Dr. Mullen as new co-chair. - DHMIC Board approved a recommendation to prioritize pregnant women in housing programs. - Workgroup met May 9 and heard presentations from: - CSG (consultants on centralized Section 8 lists) - Delaware State Housing Authority (DSHA) on SRAP - Division of Substance Abuse and Mental Health (DSAMH) on voucher use in their programs - Community Legal Aid Society on legal considerations - Due to challenges with the Section 8 list, focus shifted to expanding access via SRAP vouchers. Data Committee - Committee reconvened with meetings on April 2 and May 7. - Focused on understanding existing maternal and infant health data sources and identifying gaps. - Developed new mission and vision to leverage and communicate timely, relevant data for improving outcomes. - Goals include: - Supporting evidence-based practices - Improving data infrastructure and use - Promoting cross-sector collaboration - Website updates and committee recruitment in progress. Discussion Highlights:	Tiffany Chalk and Mona Liza Hamlin, Co-Chairs Ray Fitzgerald and Dr. J. Mullen, Co-Chairs Dr. Lindsay Ashkenase and Dr. Alethea Miller, Co-Chairs	Resolved	No further action required.

	- Concerns raised about the CDC's suspension of PRAMS and potential loss of equity-related data. - Leah Jones (DPH) confirmed PRAMS is currently unstable at the federal level; the state is exploring in-house continuation using internal funding. - Additional data sources under consideration: Medicaid and Healthy Women Healthy Babies program data. - Emily Katzman (ChristianaCare) encouraged collaboration and review of ACOG's fourth trimester benchmarks for potential integration.
V. Organization Presentation	The MotherSHIPP App - Presented a federally funded app designed to support pregnant and parenting women with behavioral health challenges. - Developed by a team with lived experience and tested in Philadelphia. - Key features: - Weekly pregnancy and postpartum lessons - Content on self-care, behavioral health, child development, and parenting - Available in English and Spanish with accessibility considerations - Recruitment in Philadelphia has been difficult due to social determinants like housing insecurity and phone access. - Dr. Kaplan is exploring use of the app in Delaware with residential treatment centers. - Expressed interest in future partnerships with Delaware-based healthcare and behavioral health providers.	Dr. Katy Kaplan, University of Delaware	Resolved	No further action required.
VI. DHMIC 2025 Summit Recap	419 registered; 380 attended in person. - Featured 24 speakers, breakout sessions, and Innovation Stations. - Keynote speakers included Dr. Nadine Burke Harris and Dr. Janet Currie. - High satisfaction ratings across the board: 88% overall satisfaction 91% gained relevant skills 76% felt there was enough time for networking - Strong feedback on: - Men's maternal health perspectives panel - Interactive sessions Suggestions included: - Making slides or recordings available online - Allowing repeat breakout sessions so attendees have the opportunity to listen to all sessions - Offering CEUs - Placing vendors back in the main room - Improving signage for giveaway vs. display materials at Innovation Stations	Dr. Priscilla Mpasi, Chair	Resolved	No further action required.

VII. Community Collaboration Discussion	• Discussion held on how to maintain engagement and momentum between quarterly meetings. • Feedback included: ○ Creating a DHMIC newsletter (biannual suggested) ○ Repurposing summit content through short video clips or visual notes ○ Using committee capacity to incorporate emerging topics from the summit ○ Encouraging continued community input and cross-committee collaboration	Dr. Priscilla Mpasi, Chair	Resolved	No further action required.
